

18 January 2016

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I have known Nick Collins professionally since 2012. In that time I have assessed some of Collins Corporation's fall arrest anchor systems for the purpose of providing an independent engineering evaluation and certification.

Nick does not stint when it comes to testing and certifying his products. He goes beyond what is mandated to ensure what he sells is fit for purpose, well-proven and fully documented. He is a very knowledgeable and conscientious provider of equipment to the height safety industry and a leading advocate for improvement in standards.

Yours sincerely

